

Laughing Kookaburra

The Laughing Kookaburra is a large kingfisher that is native to eastern Australia. Male and female adults are similar in plumage. They have a white or cream-colored body and head with a dark brown stripe through the eye and more faintly over the head. The wings and back are brown with sky blue spots on the shoulders. Tail is reddish.